Roosevelt Care Center at Edison hosts first Feast of San Gennaro

Roosevelt Care Center at Edison residents Rose Sciacchitano and Sue Farber toast their non-alcoholic Sangria, during the long-term care center's first-ever Feast of San Gennaro. The popular day of commemoration, which Italian immigrants brought stateside in 1926, honors the Patron Saint of Naples.

A feast it was, as Roosevelt Care Center at Edison's dietary staff, Rod Felice and Carla Berrido, prepared a host of San Gennaro-inspired dishes for long-term care residents Thursday, including: manicotti, lasagna, sausage and peppers, breadsticks, tomato-basil-mozzarella salad and cannoli.
